2019 LENTEN PARISH MISSION

All are invited and welcome to attend our upcoming Parish Lenten Mission on April 8, 9 and 10 at 7:00 p.m.! We will be hosting Fr. Pat, M.S., and Fr. Cyriac, M.S., two La Salette priests who are respected and admired members of our extended parish family. Fr. Pat will be enhancing our experience each evening with beautiful songs from a number of his recordings.

This year's mission will have as its theme, 'Called, Reconciled and Sent.'

- On the first evening, we will focus upon what Scripture tells us about how God calls each of us, as well as Mary's call to us in the La Salette apparition to "Come near."
- The focus of the second evening will be upon being reconciled. We will hear what the Word of God tells us about reconciliation in addition to our need to be reconciled to the gift of Mary's tears at La Salette, and to our own tears.
- On the third evening, the discussion will emphasize that we are disciples who are being sent. The witness of Scripture as well as Mary's last words at La Salette to make this known to all my people will be presented and explored.

COMPARE AND CONTRAST

(3rd Sunday of Lent: Exodus 3:1-15; 1 Corinthians 10:1-12; Luke 13:1-9)

At some point in our education, most of us have been given an assignment to analyze the similarities and differences between two or more authors, historical events, etc. I cannot resist the temptation to compare and contrast La Salette and today's reading from Exodus.

God says to Moses, "Come no nearer!"

The Beautiful Lady says: "Come closer, my children."

God says, "I have witnessed the affliction of my people... so I know well what they are suffering."

Mary tearfully describes the sufferings of her people.

God: "I have come down to rescue them and lead them into a land flowing with milk and honey."

Mary: "I am here to tell you great news... Rocks and stones will be turned into heaps of wheat."

St. Paul writes that what happened to the ancestors of the Jewish people in the desert serves as an example, a cautionary tale, for his Christian readers. And Jesus, by the use of parables, invites his disciples to compare and contrast his words with their lives.

In particular, Jesus makes a comparison between his listeners and the victims of two catastrophes. "If you do not repent, you will all perish as they did!"

This quotation figures significantly in a detail of La Salette history. On November 3, 1874, Fr. Sylvain-Marie Giraud, Superior General of the Missionaries of Our Lady of La Salette, had an audience with Pope Pius IX. Fr. Giraud asked what one should think about the "secrets" of La Salette, which Mélanie and Maximin had sent to the Holy Father—for his eyes only—many years earlier. Pius IX answered: "What to think of the secret?

This: unless you do penance, you will all perish."

With these words, the Pope indicated that he attached little importance to the secrets as such. That has always been the position of the La Salette Missionaries as well. What is normative is the message as approved in 1851 by the Bishop of Grenoble.

And that message can be summed up by another comparison, from today's Psalm: "As the heavens are high above the earth, so surpassing is the Lord's kindness toward those who fear him."
